W. C. T. U. NOTES.
Have you asked, by letter or card, our Congressman to vote for the Kinyon-Sheffield bill? The interstate commerce bill, which if passed will greatly aid prohibition States in enforcing this law. It is held in committee and needs strong pressure on the members of that committee by the home people.
Next Sunday, May 12th, is Mother's Day. It has been enthusiastically approved by chief executives and leading men all over the country. One governor says: "It is the highest bit of practical sentiment that has ever taken hold of the hearts of men." It has brought many a prodigal home, opened many a closed heart, sweetened sad lives, and brought kind ministrations to forlorn and needy mothers. The Belfast W. C. T. U., the M. E. church, and doubtless others, will take notice of the day.

The Union Signal, published at Evanston, Ill., by the National W. C. T. U., has started a "Campaign Edition" at only 25 cents a year. A monthly issue of 16 pages full of temperance news, stories, letters from State, national and foreign workers, articles by prominent men and women, philanthropists, educators, ministers, physicians, and many others. Not the least interesting is the letter from Washington, by Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, telling of the doings of Congress.
Great efforts are making to lessen the number of saloons in the National Capital. The children of a High school, a Manual Training school and two other schools in going to or from home, or to the public library, must pass 23 saloons in four blocks on a direct line. Probably the advocates of license consider this an excellent supplementary education for the young people.

FORREST J. MARTIN DEAD.
BANGOR, May 9. Forrest J. Martin, one of the most prominent members of the Penobscot bar and a member of the faculty of the University of Maine College of Law, died very suddenly at an early hour this morning of heart disease. Mr. Martin was born in Newport 44 years ago, graduated from the Maine Central Institute in 1886 and from the Boston University Law School in 1890, taking cum laude honors. He began practice in Clinton, but came to Bangor about 20 years ago and had since been associated with Howard P. Cook. In 1897 he was appointed professor of common law pleading in the University of Maine College of Law, which he held to the time of his death. He took much interest in that branch of his work, and made that part of the Law School course especially strong. He was prominent in Democratic politics, and always in demand as a campaign speaker. He was elected to the Legislature in 1907, and was a candidate for Mayor of Bangor several years ago. He was a leading member of the Penobscot Bar association and of a number of other organizations. His favorite diversion was high bird dogs, and he was widely known as an importer and breeder of Great Danes. He is survived by his wife, who was Clara R. Richardson of Clinton.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON PENSION BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 8. The report of the conference of the two houses of Congress on the general service pension bill was agreed to Tuesday by the Senate. The bill will necessitate an average increase of appropriations of $22,000,000 a year for the next five years. The greatest increase will occur next year, when it will reach $35,000,000.
WASHINGTON, May 10. The House agreed today 173 to 57 to the conference report of the general pension bill providing pensions up to $1 a day for veterans of the Civil and Mexican wars. It now goes to the President for his signature. Many Democrats voted for the bill with the Republicans. Rep. Kent of California cast the only Republican vote against it.

WASHINGTON, May 11. The President tonight signed the increased pension bill, passed by the House and Senate. The measure was signed and became a law just before midnight, in the executive offices at the White House. A congressional committee including Senators McCumber and Burnham and Reps. Sherman and the author of the original bill, Adair, Russell and Carl C. Anderson, was awaiting the arrival of the President when he reached the White House on his return from Princeton. He affixed his signature to the bill in the presence of the committee.

The pension bill agreed upon will increase the amounts paid to the old soldiers and grade such payments according to the present age of the veteran and upon the length of his service. The arrangement seems to be as just as could be devised, although it will increase the annual expenditures of the Pension Department by at least $25,000,000. The principle upon which the size of the pension is fixed is upon a sliding scale—the older the person and the longer his service the larger the pension. For instance, a veteran now 62 years old who served 90 days gets $13 a month, but if he served three years the pension will be $16, with intermediate sums for shorter terms; the 66-year man of 90 days' service gets $15; the 70-year man of 90 days' service gets $18, rising to $25 for three years' service; and men who are 75 years old get $21 a month for 90 days' service, rising to $30 for three years' service. Those who were wounded and are now unable to perform manual labor, or who incurred disease in line of duty in the war and cannot work, are to receive $30 a month without regard to the length of their service.

A Happy Married Life.
"I married a suffragette, said Mr. Chomondely Rippington of Hyde Park, "and for five years have found unpeakable happiness."
"I'm glad to hear it," said the suffragette leader.
"Yes," said Rippington, "Mrs. Rippington has been in jail four years and three months altogether."—Harper's Weekly.

A Permanent Possession.
"You can't eat your cake and have it, too," said Dubbs.
"Oh, can't you?" retorted Hicks. "It's very evident you never ate any of my wife's cake."—Harper's Weekly.

Oh, pshaw!

The result in Texas is in doubt and the State convention will have to settle the Taft-Roosevelt contest.

And now the Harmon campaign managers have put Bryan into the Ananias club. It is a growing organization.

Rhubarb from the garden, dandelion greens from the lawn—"saw" and greens that indicate spring is on the way.

There is widespread opposition to the proposed recall of judges. Recall for presidential candidates might meet with more favor.

The ice is out of Moosehead lake, but when you can catch 12 and 15 pound pollock with rod and line off Saturday Cove, why go so far away from home?

Mrs. Mary S. Hodgdon of Wenham, Mass., who observed her 100th birthday May 7th, has never eaten butter or been at a dance. Does she use oleomargarine?

An Augusta special of May 9th indicated that only 136 towns out of 475 intend to do any State road work this year. Perhaps the others are expecting to get the benefit of that $2,000,000 bond issue.

A Washington special to the New York Herald says that "Mr. Bryan is looming up as a big factor in the situation." Bryan is supporting Woodrow Wilson, much to the disappointment of Champ Clark.

Now it is predicted that Congress will be in session all summer. Well, the Congressmen will earn their salaries—in fact, will earn their bread by the sweat of their brows. It is some hot in Washington in summer.

Much of the present day fiction may be properly classified as rot. Fortunately it is as ephemeral as the mushroom and lasts only for a day. Perhaps it should be likened to the toad-stool, for the mushroom is good while it lasts, but the toadstool is poisonous.

General Bennett H. Young of Louisville, Ky., commander of the Army of Tennessee, who was elected commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans at Macon, Ga., May 8th, boasts that he has never sworn, lied or drank whiskey. And he hails from Kentucky!

Statistics from the Census Bureau place the number of hens in the United States as 500,000,000. Reports had been received from more than 4,600 Maine farms, showing a total of 2,601,738 fowl raised, valued at $1,454,815. The number of eggs produced was about 15,000,000 dozen valued at $3,792,335. "Lay on"—biddy!

The United Confederate Veterans in convention at Macon, Ga., May 8th, accepted the invitation of the Grand Army of the Republic for the veterans of the South to participate in the semi-centennial celebration of the battle of Gettysburg in July, 1913. Then they can fight their battles over again—verbally—and smoke the pipe of peace.

Oscar W. Underwood is the man in whose favor all the great influence and wealth of the heavyweights of the Democratic party finally will be thrown in the Democratic convention," says a Washington despatch. While Champ Clark is leading just now it is not probable that he will have a majority on the first ballot. What combination will follow no one can predict with certainty.

The New Boston Journal they call it, and it certainly does not in the least resemble the old Boston Journal which was held in such high regard in Maine, and indeed all over New England. In a recent issue it speaks of Senator Lodge as "a wishy washy cypher," and the Biddeford Journal well says:

There was a time when the Boston Journal was regarded as a conservative, reliable exponent of Republican principles, but in its reference to Senator Lodge it descends to the very lowest depths of political depravity.

In the statistics gathered by the Census Bureau Texas is included among the butter-making States, and Maine is not included among the ten ranking States in this production. Yet we recall a time when practically no butter was made in Texas and a man might own many hundred head of cattle and the family be without milk even, as the cows were all on the range. No ice was to be had in those days and when butter was made it was about the consistency of farmers cream. Hogs also ran at large and got their living as best they could.

The Journal has been asked several times to give free advertising in the form of reading matter to a so-called Philadelphia School for Nurses at 2219 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, but in accordance with its settled policy in such cases has declined to do so. We are now advised that the graduates of this school are not accepted by the National Red Cross Society nor the Nursing corps of the Army and Navy; they are not admitted to the Directory for Nurses connected with the College of Physicians, Philadelphia, nor are they recognized by the Pennsylvania State Board of Examiners for Registration of Nurses.

Some weeks ago a visitor to The Journal office spoke of the wonderful changes and inventions of the past fifty, and even the past twenty-five years, many of which will readily come to mind. But the other day we had a caller who, among other interesting things, said that there was one piece of man's handiwork in which no improvement had been made for 400 years, and that was the fiddle. It had not been and could not be changed in shape or construction, and the fiddles of today, made on the same lines, only needed age to make them equal to those produced by the old masters.

There is evidently something doing in the medical world, judging from the pamphlets and bulletins received almost daily. The pamphlets are compilations of articles that have appeared in The Journal of the American Medical Association and deal with medical fakes and fakirs. Per contra, The National Magazine for April, 1912, contains an article by B. O. Flower under the caption of "The National League, its aim and its Contentment for Medical Freedom," in which he denies the charges of the American Medical Association and says of the aim of the National League: "It will seek through publicity and education to unmask and oppose any legislation which endeavors to put into power any one system of healing and use the government postage, money and machinery to enforce its theories and opinions upon citizens who believe in other forms of healing." In this connection we notice that John E. Darling of Winterport was one of the speakers before a committee of the Massachusetts legislature in opposition to a bill which the remonstrants declared looked to the formation of a medical trust in Massachusetts. Mr. Darling was the first speaker and was followed by ex-Gov. Bates, Hon. Samuel J. Elder, Hon. Charles Bakstran and many other noted people. The committee on Public Health reported adversely on the bill.

Washington Whisperings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13, 1912. President Roosevelt of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, and a member of Congress from Louisiana, has publicly announced that the 9th annual convention of the biggest of the waterway organizations will be held as usual in Washington on December 4th, 5th and 6th. At one time it looked as if this year's convention would be held in some city other than Washington, with the result that Spokane, Buffalo and New Orleans became active candidates for the honor of entertaining the Congress. Spokane was particularly diligent in pushing its campaign. When the members of the Advisory Committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress began its final consideration of the question, however, and ascertained what it would cost each delegate to go to the Pacific Northwest, to say nothing of the time it would take to make the trip, the committee unanimously rescinded its former action and decided to hold the annual convention in the Capital of the Nation. Of course there will be considerable disappointment, particularly among western friends of waterways, over the decision of the committee to reverse its action, but as this is Presidential Year and all the members of the lower House are to be elected, besides governors and State officers in half the States of the Union, it was thought good business sense to stay in Washington this year.

The marvelous colors in the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, according to a publication just issued by the Interior Department, are mainly due to mineral matter, the pigments being derived from the lavas. The harmonious and brilliant tints in the geysers and hot-spring pools are due mainly to plant life. The publication contains an account of the geologic forces that have caused the wonderful natural features that have made the Yellowstone famous throughout the world. It is illustrated with photographs of some of the principal features of the park and is written in non-technical language so that it may be readily understood by persons without scientific training.

Accident Bulletin No. 42 just issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission shows that 242 persons were killed and 4,706 were injured in train accidents during the months of October, November and December of 1911, bringing the grand total for the year up to 2,726 killed and 19,956 injured. Of this number 1,419 of the killed and 1,335 of the injured were trespassers on railroad premises.

In the discussion on the river and harbor appropriation bill which passed the Senate May 9th, carrying in round numbers $34,053,000, and which now goes to conference unless the House should see fit to accept the Senate amendments, Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi advanced the proposition that the Mississippi river project should be segregated and dealt with as the Panama Canal was dealt with. The Mississippi river, he said, does not present a thousand problems. It presents but one. He thought it would be a good thing to move up the dredge boats and other machinery from Panama when the government gets through with them down there and locate them on the Mississippi from St. Louis down and above St. Louis as well and utilize this plant in dredging the river to a depth of 12 or 14 feet.

THE NEWS OF BELFAST

The annual meeting of John Cochran Chapter, D. A. R., will be held with Mrs. Ada Kimball, Waldo avenue, Monday evening, May 21st. All members are requested to be present.

A chimney in the Harris store on Main street occupied by Ralph D. Southworth was taken down yesterday. It was not used and had become dangerous.

We are all apt to get the "out of town habit." From the fact that an article comes from a large city makes it seem very much more exclusive and stylish than if bought locally. Usually the very same article could have been bought right here in Belfast and the only difference would have been in the price, which is very much less. However, there is one article that the young men in town won't have to send away for, and that is the new English flat foot shoes that are all the rage in the big cities. The Dimsore Store is showing a very complete line of Regals in these very much wanted styles. Look at their advertisement on page 8 of this issue.

N. W. ADVERTISING. James H. Howes Old Fellows' block, is making a great display of summer wearing apparel. The suits, coats and dresses for women and the dainty garments for the children have been carefully selected, and an inspection of them is invited. There is also an attractive line of parasols, gloves and hosiery, corsets and underwear, house dresses and house furnishings. The Dimsore Store has just received a shipment of Regals in the latest city shapes. See them in their window or step in and try a pair on. They are made in Russia and Black King Calf, in both low and high cuts. Penobscot river salmon and lobsters at Bramhall's market. First salmon of the season. Don't forget that The Dimsore Store is selling Holeproof silk hosiery that are guaranteed just the same as their other stockings. Madame Mona, the Indian Queen palmist and life reader, may be consulted at 11 Union street. Furnished house, seven rooms and bath, to let. Inquire of E. L. Macomber, 11 Bayview street, Belfast, Me.

NORTH BELFAST. The supper and entertainment given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society Wednesday evening, May 8th, was a success financially and socially. The drama, "The Deacon's Second Wife," was the attraction of the evening and was well played. The characters were well executed by the persons chosen to represent them. The stage settings were attractive and in keeping with the requirements of the play. The cast of characters was given last week in The Journal. The drama was given under the direction of Mrs. A. Roak Allen, who was untiring in her efforts, and to her is largely due the success of the event. Mrs. Nina Stevens, cornetist, Mr. Will Mason, violinist, and Mrs. Ned Mason, pianist, made up the orchestra, and dispensed fine music during the evening. Mr. H. B. Ladd sang a solo. The whole entertainment was given by home talent, fathers and mothers vying with their sons and daughters in faithfully executing the parts assigned them. That they succeeded was attested by the interest and enthusiasm of the large audience and the request that it be repeated the following Wednesday.

PORTLAND BOARD OF TRADE TO VISIT BELFAST. The city of Belfast is to be included in the itinerary of the Portland Board of Trade's second annual tour of Maine. The party, which includes some eighty of the prominent business men of the Forest City, are due to arrive here on Thursday, May 23d, at 7:30 p. m., remaining until 1 a. m., when they leave for the city of Ellsworth. "Beautiful Belfast," with her wide-awake people and active Board of Trade, has always played a prominent part in the State's activities and the Portland men are making a big detour to come and spend an evening with us in social intercourse and to witness for themselves Belfast's beautiful environment and natural advantages. The party includes leading and professional men of Portland, many of them known the State over, and Belfast will be honored by their presence and hopes to make their brief stay here enjoyable. The program for the reception of the visitors is not fully made up, but they will be met at the railway station at 7:30 p. m. by members of the Belfast Board of Trade and the Belfast band and a banquet will be served in the Opera House by the ladies of the Baptist society at 8 o'clock. There will be post prandial exercises, of course, and probably an entertainment will follow.

A Hero Honored.

Memorial Services to Major Butt, Who Went Down in the Titanic.

Brief mention was made last week of the memorial services, May 5th, in Washington, D. C., in honor of Major Archibald M. Butt, U. S. A. Carter B. Keene, formerly of Freedom, master of Temple Lodge, paid the tribute of the lodge and of Masonry to "Major Butt, the Mason," and said in part:

"It is impossible to speak of Major Butt as a master Mason without reiterating much that has been here said of him, for the sterling qualities which characterized his eventful life illumined his Masonic life. His gentle birth and breeding in a Georgia home, his alertness and reliability in the press galleries, his perfect sense of duty and his absolute respect for discipline in the army, his inflexible fidelity to every trust, his kindness and affability, his compassion and thoughtfulness for the unhappy and afflicted, were conspicuous in his short but beautiful Masonic career.

"Major Butt inherited his veneration for the fraternity. A life-size portrait of Jonathan Butt hangs on the walls of Franklin Lodge, No. 11, Warren, Ga. It is the likeness of his great-grandfather, master of that lodge in 1821. His grandfather and his father were likewise recorded on the roster of that lodge.

"Major Butt was made a master Mason in Temple Lodge January 29, 1909. But he undertook no duties in conflict with those instinctively practiced by him. He lived the serious and sublime tenets of our faith. His Masonry was of the heart, and not the Masonry of insignia and credentials.

"He was an active and earnest member. He loved the traditions and teachings of the order. His sincerity and friendship won speedy recognition from all his brethren, and in a short time 'Archie' was a part of our fraternal life. No assignment was too small for him to accept and none too large for him to undertake. He delighted in meeting his brethren in the lodge room, and often remarked that it was alike his pleasure and duty to attend the communications of the lodge. The charitable precepts of the fraternity appealed most strongly to him, and he often expressed the hope that they would be enlarged and made more effective. And I believe this hope will be realized by the master Mason of this broad land of ours in a Masonic memorial home at the Nation's Capital, which shall be hallowed by the name of Archibald W. Butt. Every suggestion made by him to the master disclosed his refined consideration for the rights of others, and his veneration for the ancient landmarks of the order.

"Deserved honors fell fast upon our brother, and with them came the most exacting responsibilities, but his success never impaired his simplicity, nor did the exercise of authority warp his compassion. In the greatest peril he was most heroic, and in his utter helplessness he was most helpful.

"Many of our brethren on this stage were led to the doors of Temple Lodge by his example. His last Masonic act of record was the filing of the petition of Major Blanton Winslow of the army, his close and warm friend. A week ago Thursday night Major Winslow received the entered apprentice degree in Temple Lodge; today he is in Halifax, watching and hoping that an incoming steamer bears all that is mortal of our brother and our friend. Major Butt's last message to us, mailed at Gibraltar March 11th, was: 'Best wishes to those whose friendship is firmer than this rock. Love to every one. When it was a greeting, now a benediction.'

"There is a responsive and sympathetic chord in the breast of every true man and woman the wide world over when mention is made of the virtues and achievements of the heroic and illustrious dead. Seldom has there been a more distinguished gathering in honor of an American. Never has there been one more deeply responsive to the sentiments and memories of the hour. But the words here spoken and the songs here sung will fall short of their full value unless we take away with us the inspiration of our hero's life and death. Nothing can add to his record and his glory; the approval of all mankind abides and remains with him forever.

"He was a master Mason."

Following is an original poem, "Kind Memories," written by Philander Chase Johnson, as a personal tribute to Major Butt and dramatically recited at the services by Charles B. Hanford, the actor: Life—the Mysterious gift From the Eternal Source— How variously do we find it used Ere it is claimed again, We know not why or where, We squander or we let it idly rust; We lead our days in petty usury, In hope to add another's little share Of earthly happiness unto our own, And still the solemn shadows lurk beyond And bid us falter in our future quest. In weariness we pause and lift our eyes And wait for some one, wiser than the rest, To show the way and lead us to the light. The Darkness and the Silence—Over There! Then from the Many Thousands one steps forth! No stern, compelling soul, but kind of speech And generous of thought; A man who loved the word of ours so well He felt no fear of what it might contain And had a smile, even for death itself.

He showed the way, And as he passed he found The comradeship of nature like his own. First among men because they were content To be the last. There was no stress of storm where he went down, No vengeful hate nor strife of jealous greed. Oh, Splendid Rivalry! Where loyal men stood forth in lofty claim And like the Master of our Christian faith, Unhesitating, gave their lives to show The others how to Live.

Now, as we say "farewell" we strive to speak The words which lingered often in our hearts Words of affection and admiring faith. How tenderly we bring Earth's sweetest flowers To one who sees them not with mortal eyes; So men amongst men their gentlest thoughts withhold Until they serve alone To soothe the selfish sadness of the living. Farewell, dear friend. We recognize you now— One of the favored few to whom God gives A mission to perform. We bid farewell unto the least of you. Your mortal self, The real man you were—the man you are— Will live among us always.

The bugle will sound "taps." Our tears will fall Into the vastness of the silent sea. The reverent hymn will rise, A requiem sweet in which the World must join, And yet the Love that gives us men like you Will never let the parting be complete. For in this life, where souls like shadows flit, The only great and true Realities Are such as Memory tenderly enfolds In changeless Love and Honor, Evermore.

The body of Capt. Uriah Lamb of this town, who died five years ago in Sailors' Sun Hospital, New York, was brought here Saturday morning for burial in Mountain cemetery. His sons, Capt. Ernest Lamb and Henry, accompanied the body here and were met by their sister, Mrs. Parker George of Wintport. A large company, nearly 50, of the Women's Literary Union of Auburn and Lewiston, and often lectured before women's clubs.

HELPS A JUDGE IN BAD FIX.

Justice Eli Cherry, of Willis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and it was completely cured." Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. 25 cents at all druggists.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache do not neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

3d District Republican Committee.

A meeting of the Republican committee of the 3d Congressional district, which includes the counties of Kennebec, Waldo, Somerset and Hancock, the committee organizing a meeting in Waterville, May 10th. W. H. Wilds of Skowhegan was elected chairman, Roy Haines of Ellsworth, secretary. Those present in addition were Fred Kinsman of Augusta and A. H. Nichols of Searsport.

THE ISSUES OF MAINE IN SEPTEMBER.

(Lewiston Journal.)

The Democratic press of Maine is having a hard time to get an audience on their rehash of the finance and "A Bankrupt State" campaign which did them service two years ago.

A writer of such fluent English and such a delightful play of wit is conducting a press bureau from Augusta so vigorously that one might wonder why he fails to hold his audience as of old. Is his song no longer welcome? Has the Jester lost the cap and bells? Or is there a suspicion that he is taking, for partisan uses, the high-salaried time that properly belongs to the People in an office that demands not merely perfunctory service but also something more? This would be one reason why the people paid no longer any attention to this rignarole of insinuation, half-statement, innuendo and exaggeration that is being put forth daily. This would be one reason why the people were showing signs of being very, very tired of that estimable and prolific person.

But there is something else. Parties are but men. When men keep their word they make good. When they break their word they lose their hold on the public confidence. To-day the issues in Maine State political life are simply this—has the Plaided administration lived up to its promises on the one great issue in Maine public life? Has it made good? And the answer is no. It promised by platform; by campaign promises; by the governor's inaugural; by uplifted hand in high places, to see to it that the laws were respected and enforced by the duly-elected officers. We have shown this in many ways, in exact reproduction of the very words of the administration; by parallel columns; by liberal extracts of the speeches of the leaders. To-day what is the condition of Maine? It is outrageously and rottenly given over to the control of the criminal classes in a large area of the State. The influence and the sympathy of the Plaided administration is with the open saloon. The chief end and aim of Plaidism has been to legalize the saloon. Plaidism has simply broken faith with the people. It won two years ago on false pretences. It fooled five thousand voters. Most of those voters are so mad that they don't like to think about it to-day. They are disgusted with the whole business. They simply say that they don't propose to be fooled again.

To-day, we are up against a Condition in Maine. Here in Androscoggin, nullification is a menace to the life and happiness of a decent people. Men are being shot down in cold blood at the doors of their homes. Women are being thrashed and held up. Masked creatures lie in wait for the very angels of Mercy at the doors of our hospitals and seek to lay upon them violent and profane hands of lust or murder. Innocent people are robbed by night in their beds and the saloon sends out its emissaries to vilify and malign. The rum song entertains the official and the commoner alike and is not disturbed. They hardly draw their curtains over their thousand dollar bars. And we are not alone. Waterville, in which the Socrates and the Alcibiades of the Democratic party reside, is a shameful example of deliberate and intentional nullification; or else the uncontradicted stories of recent occurrences are false. Portland is no better. State-wide is the growing sentiment of revolt at these conditions. It is a struggle for the Home. It is a struggle for Public Safety. It is a struggle for our very lives and liberties. And no pretty humor or fanciful tales about things that happened long ago will divert the people of Maine from a determination to clean house in Maine next September. There will be but one paramount issue. And whether a man believes in license or prohibition; whether he believes in the saloon restricted, the saloon prohibited or the saloon wide open, he will not entrust any longer the decision of that question to those who have made a racket of our laws and enthroned in Maine that spirit of nullification, which, as Gov. Fernald said in his inaugural, "rises like a menace or stalks behind us like an evil thing in the night."

Big Revenue from Potatoes.

Since January 1st, this year, 1,645,111 bushels of potatoes have been received at Boston from England. On these the Government collected $11,266 in duty, assessment being at the rate of twenty-five cents a bushel. Receipts this year have been unprecedented, owing to shortage in the domestic crop. The Government treasury has profited, but the consumer has practically paid the duty, for the price of foreign potatoes has been so much higher because of the tax. When the potato first began to arrive an effort was made to have the duty taken off for the time being, but in vain.

Boston isn't the only place where great quantities of the foreign potatoes have been and are being received. From January 1st to May 1st the receipts at Portland, Me., totaled 96,110 bushels, a record amount, and 100,000 bushels were landed there in bond for Canada. Revenue collected on the Portland potatoes amounted to $24,037. However, the receipts at Boston and Portland together are small as compared with the quantities landed at New York. One week recently the receipts at the metropolis totaled 449,576 bushels.

Reasons for Staying on the Farm.

The following reasons for staying on the farm are presented in the current issue of Farm and Fireside:

"It is the safest real estate investment."

"It is the best place to avoid doctor bills."

"There is no place like it for bringing up a family."

"It affords the greatest opportunity to cultivate the bump of optimism."

"It is the foundation of all national prosperity."

"It produces the estates and wearables for the nation's people."

"It offers the best chance to live in peace with God and man, than which nothing better can be desired."

"It is easier to leave the farm than it is to get back to it after you are once in the city working as carpenter, bricklayer, car-man, bookkeeper or clerk to meet your financial obligations."

"It gives a man room to build his own home. In town another is likely to build the home for you—and in the end own it."

ESCAPES AN AWFUL FATE.

A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox, of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful fate.

"Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," she writes. "Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick and safe, its most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. Every bottle guaranteed, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

LIBERTY.
Messrs. R. F. Dunton and Ralph I. Morse, attorneys at law from Belfast, went their case on Georges Lake last Friday. This is the home port of the junior member of the firm and it has been their custom for several years to come annually to this lake for the big salmon therein contained, but heretofore with indifferent success. But they are both endowed with the true spirit of the thorough fisherman, having both grit and endurance, and can fish for an entire day without getting a nibble, and hold their temper.

Ever ready to crack a joke, and always ready to drink or smoke. But last Friday they obtained their reward by capturing two of the biggest fish ever taken from these waters, weighing respectively 16 and 13 pounds, when first taken from the water, though they shrank one-half pound each by reason of being several hours out of water. Inasmuch as they are partners in the business it made no difference who caught the biggest fish, and they both seemed equally pleased. Could you have seen them as they marched into town over Bean's hill, with the tails of those leviathans dragging on the ground, you would have witnessed a joyous spectacle. Though in fighting parlance they are but light weights, you would have seen two men who thought that they were at least eight feet high and well built in every particular. Why, Daniel Lambert was but a pigmy in comparison, and the countenance of each was so open that it was easy to see to whether or not they each had gold filling in their teeth. The entire community rejoiced with them, and it is hoped that they will come again soon and capture still bigger fish, which we know await the lucky one. I saw by The Journal that Arthur V. Martin of this town had been drawn as jurymen to the U. S. Court. He is the first and only jurymen ever drawn from this town. Several years ago, noticing that the town of Montville frequently sent jurymen to the U. S. Court and that Liberty sent none, I called on the clerk of the U. S. Court in Portland to learn, if I could, the reason why. He informed me that under the law only so many jurymen could be had in the State and the population was greatly in excess of the number of jurymen required they had dropped out all towns that had not nine hundred inhabitants, and that the list was revised every twenty years. It is presumed that there has been a new revision which has let us in—J. O. J.
